Raising A Child with ASD

Mike and Gina Daugherty are the parents of three teenage boys. Trey, their 12 year old son, was diagnosed with Asperger Syndrome when he was 4 years old. Soon after the initial diagnosis, Trey completed an early childhood education program that made a tremendous difference in his life. Although they do not claim to be experts on ASD, Mike and Gina will share strategies that have worked and strategies that did not work in their personal family journey. Photos, educational experiences, tools, personal examples, and sample documents will be shared with the audience.
