Hilton Garden Inn – Fayetteville, AR

Keynote Speaker

Dr. Sandy Chang

UCLA National Center for Research on Evaluation, Standards and Student Testing
(CRESST)

Sandy Chang works on projects related to assessment, standards implementation, and language and literacy development, with a focus on English language learners. She manages the dissemination program for the Center on Standards and Assessment Implementation, including the identification and review of research-based practices that increase state, district, and school capacity. Previously, she was the project coordinator for the Dynamic Language Learning Progressions, a project that examines key features in academic language development and assessment for English language learners. Sandy writes and develops professional development resources to guide teachers in implementing formative assessment, new standards, and language progressions. She is a National Board Certified Teacher in Literacy. Prior to joining CRESST, she was reading specialist and a K-8 classroom teacher. She earned her Ph.D. in Human Development and Psychology from the University of California, Los Angeles and her Ed.M. in Language and Literacy from the Harvard Graduate School of Education.
